

A Site of the National Trust for Historic Preservation®

Explores the lives and experiences of those who lived and worked at the Shadows and the Weeks family plantations. Together with a public historian, visitors investigate the full history of enslaved life, labor, and freedom; the Weeks family plantation life before and after the Civil War; and the gay artists and authors who worked to preserve the legacy of the Weeks family and the stories of enslaved and freed people in Iberia Parish and across Louisiana.

Over 17,000 documents, photographs, oral histories, archaeological artifacts, and original furnishings shape the visitor experience. A selection of regional books and local art can be found in the museum shop. Permanent and temporary exhibits on view in the Shadows Visitor Center.
